CERTIFIED FIRST AID TRAINING WITH OSR

Oxford
School of Reflexology

Gain the confidence and life-saving skills needed to manage real-life first aid incidents effectively, both in your professional practice and in everyday life.

This course is designed to provide emergency first aid training for practitioners, encompassing issues raised during many years of teaching complementary therapists. It concentrates on:

- ◆ The approach to an emergency and the management of the unconscious casualty;
- ◆ The recognition and first aid management of angina and heart attacks, together with current resuscitation procedures;
- ◆ The recognition, causes and first aid management of asphyxia including choking;
- ◆ Basic HSE legislation together with the legal aspects of first aid relevant to practitioners – including negligence, duty of care etc.;
- ◆ The first aid management of shock and wounds;
- ◆ The recognition and first aid management of various medical conditions including asthma, fits, seizures and strokes;

These courses run using a mix of video footage, PowerPoint presentation, relevant anecdotes, practical work groups and revision sessions.

This course is also taught as part of Oxford School of Reflexology's full practitioner course in Reflexology, and on the day you will be joining OSR students and tutors as well if they are undertaking a refresher course to renew their certificate. This makes for a lively mix of attendees, and lunchtimes and other breaks often see stimulating discussions!

If you are in any doubt about what you would do if your patient needed emergency aid, or if your existing certificate needs renewing, this is a highly stimulating, and fun course. Our students recommend it.

If you would like to attend this course, please fill in and return the attached booking form. Early booking is recommended, as there is a strict cap on course numbers.

We look forward to hearing from you and meeting you at the course.
