

THERMO-AURICULAR THERAPY

A one-day course in the safe use of Hopi Ear Candles

The popularity of ear candling is growing enormously at present, as more and more people discover the benefits of Hopi Ear Candles for a wide range of conditions associated with the ear. But despite the apparent simplicity of administering the treatment, we still think therapists should be properly aware of all the possible treatment implications and contraindications.

Angela Woodard will be holding training courses in Thermo-Auricular Therapy at OSR on the following dates:

TBA

The workshop starts at 0930 and continues until approximately 1730. This is a splendid opportunity for practising therapists to add another treatment to their repertoire – all the more so for anyone who works with children.

Angela is an experienced practitioner in ear candling and other disciplines, and will share her experience with attendees on this course. In addition, Angela's training in the use of Hopi Ear Candles is recognised for the purposes of extending practitioner insurance to cover candling.

The cost of the workshop will be £85 for the day. This will include the training, candles and other materials and all OSR's usual refreshments! There will be a strict maximum of X people booked on the course.

The day will cover:

- A&P of the ear and nose
- Functional examination of the ear
- ENT and oral complaints
- Pathology of the ear and nose
- How to use an otoscope
- How to carry out the treatment
- Contraindications for candling
- Arranging insurance

OSR tutors and staff highly recommend this day for practising therapists.
